CLEVELAND BUCKEYES AND NEWARK EAGLES HOOK UP IN INTER-LEAGUE
SERIES THAT WILL COVER MANY IMPORTANT CITIES.

By Jimmie H. Jones

The fans in and around Cleveland are all set to take in the coming inter-league series between the World Champion Cleveland Buckeyes and the Newark Eagles, winners of the first half pennant race of the Negro National league when they open up on July 18th. They will play in Dayton, Toledo, Cleveland, (Sunday July 21st in a doubleheader) Erie, Pa. and other cities throughout Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York.

The Buckeye-Newark feud is an annual affair and one of the most colorful diamond attractions on the schedule. While the Buckeyes are champions of the Negro classic and favored to win the American league crown again this year, the Eagles have won the first half championship of the National group and are top favorites to win the second, there should be a lots of predictions as to who is who in this all-important series. Both teams are studded with outstanding stars in their line-ups and the wise-acsres will have no easy time in making their betting selections fool-proof.

With the continued revarping of the Buckeyes who already have shown a vast improvement over the first half race in the American league race, they are all keyed up to bring home the bunting for the second consecutive season.
